Nominated for "New Artist of the Year" by GMA Canada in 2007, Stephanie is a singer, songwriter, and recording artist from Ontario, Canada. Stephanie is a passionate young woman with a love for God and a desire to know her Savior deeply and share that zeal with others through her music. She has toured much of Canada and parts of the U.S., having sung and led worship in countless churches, performed in concerts, women's conferences, and youth events. Her contemporary/pop sound will draw the youngest to the most mature listener as her lyrics convey the message of hope found in Jesus Christ.

In 2007 Gospel Music Association Canada nominated Stephanie in 3 categories for their 29th Annual Covenant Awards including, "New Artist of the Year", "Pop/Contemporary Album of the Year" and "Inspirational Song of the Year" for her song "Come to the Cross" co-written with Andrew Horrocks. Stephanie brought home a Covenant Award for "Inspirational Song"! Stephanie also won 2nd place prize for Faith FM Cross Canada Talent Search at GMA Week in Calgary, AB.

Stephanie Israelson is a Singer, Songwriter and Recording Artist from Wasaga Beach, ON. Married for eleven years and a mother of three, Stephanie devotes her time to her family and pursuing music ministry that will enlighten God's people and glorify Him.

Stephanie's singing career began as a young child. Born in Woodstock, New Brunswick, she was raised in a very musical family. From the age of 11, traveling, graduating through home school, and being on-stage by her parents' side singing about Jesus were the norm throughout her childhood/teen years! Starting out with gospel roots, Stephanie really came into a heart of passion for God through praise and worship music. Steph was the lead vocalist on 3 of her family's recording projects, "The Evangelists."
